

The Singing Secret

By Emily B.

This is a story about a 10 year old girl named Emily. She had loved to sing her whole life. No one but her family knew that she sang. Not even her BFF's knew she sang! She's in a choir called Gator Sound Bites. She joined it because it has to do with singing and you can't hear her voice over everybody else's voices. Her dream is to become a singer. But she is "stage shy." Finally she is going to try out for a solo singing part in a Christmas Play. She is very excited but very nervous to sing in front of her music teacher, even though she knows that she will not laugh her. The night of the auditions for the solo act everybody was so good! Finally the winner! Emily won! She was so surprised and happy! She was proud of herself. The night of the play came fast but with all the practice she did, she feels confident! It is almost time for her solo. Finally she is up on stage by herself. Almost time for her to sing. So she starts to sing like an angel. She finished singing and opened her eyes and everyone was cheering, clapping, and standing up. She felt so good. She never kept her singing a secret again!
