

The Magical Pup

by Hazel W.

Once upon a time, a long, long time far in the future, I was born. I was a cute puppy. The humans (a.k.a. two-legged thingies) started to call me Chloe. I did not know why, but I didn't mind. One day the small humans blew a broken whistle. They also made other noise. Over all the noise I heard the broken whistle. I don't think the small humans could hear it though. I know most dogs can hear high-pitched noises, but Chloe could hear it better than other dogs. It was then I realized I had super-hearing powers! The whistle did not make a pleasant sound. It made a terrible noise. It sounded like a screech. Another time when my humans took me for a walk and before we left I looked back at my white house. Somehow I saw through the pink door then I saw someone taking things. I begged until my owners took me in the house. Then they saw the person who was taking things. They called the cops and the person got arrested, and I saved my humans' things. Then I knew I had X-ray vision. I didn't know why I kept getting powers until one day my owners let me outside. There was an old gray dog outside. I thought to myself he probably knows why I kept getting powers. So I asked him.

"Hi! For some reason I keep getting powers. I was wondering if you know why?"

"Hmmm, powers?" he said.

"Yes, I keep on getting powers."

"You're the protector. Oh, it's an honor to meet you."

"What? I don't understand."

"Well, you see God was always looking for a puppy."

"Why?" I asked.

"He was looking for a puppy because..."

"Chloe!!", my owners called out.

"I have to go. I will talk to you tomorrow!"

So I ran inside. Then the next day I came outside.

"So where was I?" said the old gray dog. "Oh, now I remember where I was. So he was looking for a puppy because there was too much evil. He needed someone to stop all the evil in the universe. He knew it couldn't be a human because humans sin. So it would have to be an animal. It would have to be a brave, loyal animal. So he decided that animal would be a puppy. So legend has it that one day a puppy will be born. God will give this puppy great powers! You are that puppy! When you feel like you are not getting powers any more come to me again."

"Chloe!!"

"My owners are calling me. Bye and thank you!"

So when my powers stopped coming, I went to the old gray dog again. Then he showed me a secret portal to heaven. So I jumped in. I came out in another in heaven. Then I saw God and he spoke to me. He said, "You are the one I have chosen to protect the universe from evil. Now that you have all your super powers you have your full potential." So I forever guarded the universe from evil and sin.
