

The Attack of the Giant Flies!

By Danika P.

“The flies are attacking the city!” yelled the guy on the TV. There was no escaping it, the flies were attacking the city of San Antonio. They were everywhere, on top of buildings, in people’s houses, and even shopping in H.E.B! You could say they were flyzillas. They were so big they could fit in an entire school bus! I’m glad that my family and I went to South Padre Island for the weekend. If not, I don’t know what would’ve happened. But, when we were at South Padre the news came on one again. The flies had passed San Antonio and went through Los Fresnos, then through Brownsville and finally to South Padre Island. When the program ended we went straight to packing our bags. I was personally frightened, but mom and dad were as cool as some ice cubes. Although I think that they were faking it for me. Afterward, we headed to Austin so we could be as far from the coast as possible. I’m glad we got away from those flies... At least for now.
