

Thu

Ash's Trouble Playing Soccer

I went to the soccer field with my ball. We started playing and I watched them play until it was my turn. I went up to where my ball was at. I started playing, but I was shaking a lot during my first round. I couldn't move a finger. I was nervous. My heart stopped for a second, then it went back to normal again. I was shaking so much they can probably see me shaking a lot. I really just can't focus on the ball. If I don't kick maybe they are going to take my ball and have me watch. Then I heard loud voices. It was loud and clear, but when I at them they were cheering me on. So I got all worked up, and I kicked the ball the direction I wanted it to be. I closed my eyes and everyone was staring at the ball in the sky. When it finally landed I heard a very loud boom. I was scared to open my eyes, but I opened them anyways and the ball went into the goal. I was surprised I opened my mouth wide and stared at the ball in the net. I was surprised it feels fake but it's real. I can't believe this day would ever come true or happen to me. I realized I've been helpful for once. I will tell everyone about this day, even my teachers! When I came home we celebrated this day with me and my family.