The Kid that has a Problem

There was a kid named Roberto that lost his cat Sprinkles. They were in a park and somehow Sprinkles escaped from her leash. She went to a road, a car passed, and then she was gone. He screamed "SPRINKLES!" He heard a meow; she was on top of a house. She jumped on a car. The car got its engine ready the car passed our house. Sprinkles jumped off. We did not know where she was. We looked everywhere. We printed a paper that says "Lost Cat! Call us please if you find him!" We drove to every street. She was gone, Roberto started crying! "We will never find her!" he said. His mom said we could buy a new one. He screamed "NO!" "I won't replace my cat!" His mom said let's go home then." He said ok sadly. They went back home, Roberto looked in the backyard. He screamed mom! I found Sprinkles! She said "Really? Roberto said "for real! Now we don't have to replace him!" Roberto had the biggest smile and felt a huge relief that he found his best friend Sprinkles had come back to him.

The End.
