The Books

It was a hot sunny day at Jefferson Middle school. One day there was a book fair at the middle school.

A boy named Jackson went to the book fair one day to go buy some books. Ten minutes passed by and a weird looking thing appeared out of nowhere. It was a...a...witch!

Out of nowhere the witch said "BOP...POP...and make these books run away!HAHAHAHA!As the boy was about to grab a book it grew legs and ran away!OMG...so Jackson was about to grab a different book it also grew legs and ran away!Every book that he tried to grab grew legs and ran away. Then the witch ran away!OH NO!

The little boy went off to go and find the witch, but he could not find her!20 minutes later he found the witch. He told the witch to stop making the books run away!The witch said "No never"!The witch and Jackson started to fight!POW!WOW!BOOM!The little boy left the library and went back to class. The guilty witch felt bad and stayed in the library.

Later on in the day Jackson went back to the library and the witch told the Jackson that she will stop being an evil witch and start being a good witch. She will stop making the books disappear. The witch said "Ok Bop...Pop and make these books STOP running away NOW" Now Jackson was able to buy any book he wanted from the book fair. Jackson said "Goodbye Witch"!Then the witch finally went away forever!
