

GHOST SHIP BY ALISA E.

I remember when I was a little kid. My grandpa would tell us stories of the "ghost ship". Its basically a haunted ship full of ghosts. I honestly think its full of baloney but, my siblings feel the opposite way. We're suppose to go "ghost hunting" at the beach tomorrow. I guess we will see what happens. We're at the beach right now grilling burgers well at least I am my siblings are ghost hunting on a foolish ghost detector . I didnt believe it a first until the ocean started moving like crazy after our sibling said some sort of spell. What happened next was unbelievable a ghost flew out and was coming towards our family. Apparently now one else saw but us because everyone else was acting normal. Then lights out. I woke up all dizzy and with a horrible headache then all of a sudden I heard a loud moan and realized we were on the ghost ship! Then my brother looked posseed he had big bold black eyes and was speaking in a spine chilling tone. Then this thing was coming at me and said in a deep voice "leave now". I tried to speak but nothing came out then I got this cold feeling around my neck and like something was pushing me. Then all of a sudden I just swung back to the ocean my family leaving me behind. Then I did'ent know what to do next. I was speechless . I am not a fan of parnormal but, I had no choice their my family . I took out a book from my sisters beach bag that said " SUMMONING GHOST". Here we go I said nervoulsly opening the book. I studied some spells that looked helpful and was ready to say the spell for summoning the ghost ship. I doubt fully said the words and I was back. I saw ghost going into my familys bodies and I ran up to my family and was doing a ritual on them to save them then the thing came back and said in the most spookiest voice ever "your suppose to be gone." then the thing slapped me to the end of the boat. I quickly said the words and they then just vanished. Then I realized the ship was vanishing with them so I quickly went to grab my famliy and poof! It vanished. My family is actually pretty heavy so I had swim them to shore. The woke up baffled and soaked. Like me. They were asking questions but, I told them to hush and pretend nothing ever happened.