

The True Story Of How The Grinch Stole/didn't steal Christmas!

By Hannah R. and Madyn W.

Hi, I'm the Grinch. I'm going to tell you the true story of how the Grinch didn't steal Christmas! I, the Grinch, had a holiday called Grinchmas! Everybody loved me until a new, old, chubby guy came into town. His name was . . . SANTA! He wanted all of my fame. First, he asked "can I come with you to deliver presents?" Of course I said "yes!" because I'm just a nice guy. He started to come every single year! One year he told every elf to write on the presents "From Santa!" Can you believe that? This year is when it all started to go down hill. He snuck right in to my secret office where I keep my naughty and nice list. He grabbed my magic powder! That is used to brain wash kids so that if they saw me they wouldn't remember they did. That night it was Grinchmas. Santa went crazy and thought he could do anything he wanted to. So, when we went to deliver presents he secretly sprinkled my magic powder on everybody in the world! He brain washed kids in to thinking that I was mean, and I would steal kids presents. Sadly, Grinchmas was ended! Santa got all the fame in the world. He even made a movie called "How the Grinch stole Christmas!" But, let me tell you that movie was a big lie! He started making books and movies about himself. Worst of all he put me on the naughty list! This Santa guy even changed the holiday from Grinchmas to Christmas! Now this is the true story of how the Grinch didn't steal Christmas.
