

Mac's Fear

By: Zyrianna L.

Mac was never a complainer after this accident. After changing channels. Mac was still frustrated "Nothing good is on!" he whispered. Clearly angry for what was showing on so early. Mac thought he needed to cool off by going back to sleep on the couch and that is what he did. Then woke up in the dream in a big black box with wires and fuses everywhere he looked. Behind him was him sleeping on the couch Mac was very confused.

That is when something did not feel right. Mac looked on the carpet his heart sank when he saw dirty muddy footprints leading behind the couch. A tall lanky man appeared smiling so much he did not look human his teeth were so sharp even touching it the slightest it might make a cut. The man walked closer and closer to Mac then the screen turned black. Mac realized he was in the tv trapped in the black box forever scared. "AHHH!" screamed Mac he was sweating and in a panic.

After calming down he noticed the tv was off. When he looked behind the couch he saw what he feared the "Dirty muddy footprints" then leading to the tv then to the front door. Mac never complained again. He never told his friends or family about that night. Some of his friends spent the night over when they went to bed, His friend Ryan complained on that night and he screamed too when he woke.
