

Secrets
By Claire S. and Rylee A.

Once upon a time, lived a girl named Keeligh, she was twelve. She lived with her Mom and Dad. A hurricane came and they had to move to a new house that was two stories.

Two years later, Keeligh woke and it was pitch black. She ran into the wall. She turned and saw a secret door. The next day she opened the door and above the lock it said, “above & below, find your _____.” Keeligh saw a note by the door that had letters on it. She unscrambled them, they said “treasure”. She found another note that said, “find a key that will open”. She went outside to get some air and found a note. The note said, “go out tonight to find your key, right by the red old barn.” She looks in the hay stack and finds an old, rusty key. She goes back to the door and tries the key. “It works!” she yelled. She goes inside and finds another note. This one said, “go outside and wait.” So, she went outside and waited.

Then everything went BLACK! “Where am I?” Keeligh said.

“Hi, I’m Mimi.” said a woman.

“Hi, I’m Keeligh.”

“You’re here to find the treasure, right?” said the old lady.

“Um, I guess, but what is the treasure?”

“This is a pirate’s home!”

“Oh! I didn’t know that!” shouted Keeligh.

“Have you been to the basement or the secret doors?”

“WHAT?” Keeligh asked.

“Oh, you don’t know. I’ll explain later. By the way be careful of traps, don’t go off the trail,” warned the old lady. “Have a safe trip,” said Mimi.

“Um, okay, bye. Wait! I forgot someone gave me a note, here it’s for you!” Keeligh told her.

“Okay, thanks.”

She opens it and reads it. It said there is one more door somewhere, but here is a treasure map to help you find your destination. “Well, I guess follow the map,” said Mimi.

Secrets
By Claire S. and Rylee A.

“Umm, I’m where it told me to be. A KEY! Let’s see if it unlocks this door. She goes inside and there is a PORTAL! She goes in, poof swish. She is in her bed, then she wakes up and screams. “OH! I guess it was a dream. Oh, well let me check everything.”

She goes into the door and sees pirate treasure! Is it a dream or not?