Boom

There once was a family of three that lived in a normal town called Jacksonville. Carson lived in a small house with her parents. She loves to ride horses and spend time with her family. One day when Carson and her family were riding horses, there was a loud sound "BOOM"! Her horse got so scared that it jumped and Carson fell off and hit her head. When she woke up, she realized she was in the emergency room. The doctor told her that she had hurt her head, but she would be just fine, as Carson lied in bed, the only thing she could think about was the boom one day when Carson felt better, she decided to go out and find the noise she heard that day. Carson followed the path she was on that day when she noticed claw marks leading to a cave. When she reached the around the cave, she saw a cage and something that looked like a weapon. When Carson looked in the cage she saw a weird looking animal that she has never seen before. When she looked closer she noticed the animal was dead. "Who would have done this?" she wondered. as she left the cave, she ran into a hunter that explained to her that there was a strange animal that was scaring the whole town. He set a trap in the cave to catch it.

When the animal went into the cave the cage fell down and captured it. BOOM! Carson went home happy knowing that her town was safe from such a scary creature.
