

Believe

By Aubree L.

It was a sunny day at the Princeville high school when the lunch bell rang. Kimberly's best friend Allisa shouted from across the cafeteria. Kimberly walked over "Yes" she replied. "Are you going to try out for the school play?" asked Allisa. I don't know come on everyone will be there and we can tryout together. I don't know it's just I'm not too good with the crowds and all of the lights camera action thing. Please it will be fine said Allisa repeatedly. I need some time to think about it. Maybe I'll be ready tomorrow but for now let's eat our lunch. That night Kimberly thought and she thought and she thought some more until she finally said "I can't do this tomorrow, I'll tell Allisa that it's too much work and pressure" but I'm sure she will be totally fine with it. It was the next morning when Allisa came running over, guess what guess what GUESS WHAT! "What" replied Kimberly. I signed you up for the play! I know that I didn't check with you first but I really think you would do great and you're a really strong actress, plus you could overcome your fear of Lights Camera and Action said Allisa sarcastically. Well I guess it would be nice to try something new. I'll do it with you said Allisa in shock. Yep I'll do it but first what is the play about? The flyer tells you here look at mine Allisa answered. They flyer read: Annual School Play! Dear student, glad you were brave enough to try out for the play it will be fun to see you there the theme is talent show, tryouts are at 12:00 pm. Hope you can make it. Kimberly went to the rest of her classes, she was at home in her cozy warm bed at last thinking about what roll she should audition for, she thought and thought and thought some more then Kimberly whispered to herself. I'm going to try out for the lead roll it matches me perfectly which is singing that's right, I can sing like a little angel and she right, she COULD sing like an angel, but first I HAVE to call Allisa. Ring, ring Hello Allisa, speaking Allisa. I need your help, I think I should try out for the lead roll OMG OK, this is super exciting what are you trying out for Allisa. Well I was going for lead but I've decided to be the leads BEST FRIEND! That sounds so AMAZING, ok we have exactly ONE month to practice our roll. Oh that's PLENTY of time, ok I guess this is it. Goodbye okay Goodbye see you later. OK later. Boop well where do I start? Every night Kimberly practiced and practiced and practiced her lines and finally the audition came. Kimberly the judges announced Kimberly stood up and looked at Allisa, Allisa whispered you got this just believe in yourself. Ok Kimberly answered. Kimberly walked on to the steps and sang even better than the birds! The next week whoever got the rolls were on a paper on the gym doors. I DID IT! I GOT THE LEAD ROLE. EEEK. I'm so happy I can't believe it. Allisa I got the part OMG. Did you get the part no answered Allisa I never auditioned, you didn't? No I just said that to boost your confidence aww thanks but how will I go on without you? Just remember what I said, have faith just have faith thanks so much Allisa. I don't know what I would do without you. It was the day of the play and everyone acted just like it was a talent show. Well in the play her character won the talent show and at the end she got to make a speech of her choice she said: I'd like to thank my best friend Allisa because I honestly would have been in the audience watching but again I give her a huge thank you because she is the one that taught how to believe in myself and I'm super blessed to have her and I need her so much and she has answered every text and call even when were in a fight. I love her so much and she will always be my soul mate Kimberly's speech was amazing everyone in the room was clapping really loud and some in tears after it was over the two girls were going to celebrate with ice cream and had a sleep over at Kimberly's house they really were true best friends and they were forever most importantly they BELIEVED in each other.
