

Sommer C.

MISSING

No, mom I really don't know what I want for my birthday. Oh my god this is like the fourth time that she asked me what I want. My sixteen birthday is in a couple of days, but it's really been a boring summer. I just want school to be over already. I don't care if you don't want to celebrate your birthday. I am going to the store in a bit to get the surprise present and party supplies. After, a bit she went to get all the party supplies and the present. Sarah noticed that her mom never came home. So the day of the birthday she went to her dad's house. Sarah told her dad everything and he said he didn't know anything about that suspiciously. Sarah got someone to help her find out what happened to her, but all she wanted to do was call the cops and let them deal with it. But Sarah never let her parent call them. So her partner was always trying to get away with it, but Sarah found out. About two-six weeks of investigating she found out what happened. It was a car accident! Now what she needed to find out was where she was at. So she went to the market where her mom went to go get the stuff for her birthday. She was not there but she thinks it may be on the street coming back from the market. She went to the street and she looked and looked, her mom was there but she didn't see her or the car. So after five days she looked on the way to the market, she was sure she wasn't there and she wasn't. After seven days she went back to the street on the way she looked more and more, but then she finds the car and the mom. Sarah immediately dialed 911 and they came they picked her mom up and her. Sarah's mom was unconscious when Sarah looked she had been unconscious for a while. They told Sarah to wait for a while. She saw one blink then two, she had a cough and a little breath and her mom started talking to her. Sarah's mom was fine after a couple days in the hospital. She went back home with Sarah and finally Sarah had to go back to school, but before that Sarah's mom wanted to celebrate her birthday so they did. The End!!