

The Artwork

One dark and stormy night there was one teacher and one student working on a school project. They kept on hearing noises coming from down the halls. Suddenly “poof” out of nowhere their art work had disappeared. From behind the closet was there art work coming to life. Then they started to wonder what will happen because it was Halloween themed. When they opened the closet their artwork wasn't there. Suddenly they remembered that there was only one place left to check and that was the school cafeteria. When they walked into the cafeteria all the lights turned off and all they could see were these bright big red eyes crawling around. When the teacher went to go see what it was, she disappeared and was never to be found ever again. Then when the student escapade into the janitor's office there was something dripping from the roof. When he looked up, the monster was there and from that day on the monster was still in the school haunting children secretly every day until the monster is the last one standing on earth and the whole universe.
