

The Adventures of a Boy!

By Luis E.

There was a boy who was called Jake Flack. One school day he was bored like any day. He was very bored because he had a test today. He decided to fall to sleep in the middle of the class and he had a dream. In his dream he was in a room. He soon realized that he could go anywhere he wanted to go. He wanted to be anywhere besides school. He then went to a jungle where he was a townsman. He was rich in everything but there was nothing to do because he had gone back in time and he was in the 1800's. He then decided to go to a desert. It was night time and it was very dark. He then saw something move in the bushes and he then got very scared. He then teleported to a castle that was under attack. It was very brutal, and he had enough of all the crazy things that was happening. He would rather take the test. He said he wanted to go somewhere else but instead he woke up from his nap. He then learned a lesson that was to never try to run away from something just because you don't want to do it. He had to take the test, or he would get a bad grade.