

I AM A STORY

I am a story. I was told around a campfire. Then painted on cave walls. I was carved into clay tablets and told in pictures. I was written on papyrus and printed with ink into woodblocks, then woven into tapestries and copied into big books to illuminate minds. Then I was printed in bound, then act out on stage. I was read in vast private libraries, then in public libraries like me and the book store to everyone, and in places you'd never imagine. I inspire millions, and I make people sad, happy and excited, then i will be with you where you go .And i made people censored and sometimes BANNED.
