

Mariella`s Adventures

By Mariella H.

On June 1st, 2009 at approximately 5 am I, Mariella, was born into a family of heroes and a life of adventure. My Father was a First Sergeant and my mother was a Recruiter, both serving in the Air Force. Because my parents were in the military, I got to travel to different places and experienced different things and cultures to include meeting lots of friends. In total I have lived in four different places, Albuquerque, New Mexico, Okinawa Japan, Colorado Springs, Colorado and San Antonio Texas. I have also vacationed in Seoul, South Korea and Orlando, Florida.

My first adventure began in the place I was born, which was Albuquerque New Mexico. This is the place where I learned to walk, talk and run with friends. I have four friends that I remember, KJ, Xavier, Alana and MiKael. We still keep in touch. I don't remember living there but my parents said I had fun.

My second adventure was in Okinawa, Japan. In Okinawa there was a lot of beaches to visit. At the beach we found sea glass and sea shells. We collected them and we keep them in a jar on our back porch. In Okinawa my best friend was Karynn and we did almost everything together. We wrote notes to our teacher, studied math together and helped each other. Here I also learned how to eat with chopsticks and eat soba (which is soup). I had a great time in Japan and also learned to play T-Ball.

My third adventure was living in Colorado Springs, Colorado. There I had my first white Christmas. I learned to make a snowman out of candy and snow. It was always freezing cold to me and snowing. It barely felt like summer when it was. I remember one time in May, it snowed and my mom got the car stuck. She had carry me and one of my brothers' friend from the car into the house. I had two friends, Julia B and Julia W. I was scared to go to school on the first day because school had already started (we moved in October) and I was the only new kid in my class. After a while it was ok because I made lots of friends. I was even in a commercial on the schools television news channel. I also played T-Ball and Soccer.

My fourth adventure began when we moved to San Antonio. My first school was Patricia Blattman Elementary, we were the Black Bears. At Blattman my best friend was Emery. We rode the bus home together and sometimes I got off the bus at her house. I had fun at Blattman for the year that I went to school there. I played soccer here also.

My current adventure began here when we moved to Alamo Ranch. We moved here in July 2016 and I started going to Mireles in August. Now I'm a Judge Andy Mireles Knight. Here at Mireles I really enjoy it and I have lots of friends like Aston, Alcy, Dante, Hailey and many more people. I'm building memories every day. Pretty cool, right? Since I've been here, I've started to play basketball and have gotten better. Hope you have enjoyed my adventures.

THE END!
