My name is Adan and this is my story. I may be young but I have seen a lot of things and visited a lot of places. I was born on September 24, 2008 in San Antonio, Texas at St. Luke's Hospital.

I was always reaching milestones early on. For example, I started to crawl when I was six months old. Also, I had 12 teeth by my first birthday. By the age of two, I was speaking in full sentences because I was always around adults and older people like my brother Eddie who is 12 years older than me. During that year we visited Washington, DC and visited the beach often. Also during that year, my little brother Noah was born on May 7th 2011. My little bro also goes by Noah the bear and is now 6 years old.

Now let's skip a few years to 2014. In the summer we visited Orlando, Florida and Clearwater, Florida. We visited all the Disney parks and saw Mickey Mouse. We also visited the beach of Florida and went jet skiing. In the summer of 2016 we visited Santa Fe and Albuquerque, New Mexico. We did a ghost tour and visited a really cool church that had a wooden staircase. It had no nails in it whatsoever.

This last summer we spent a week in Cancun, Mexico. It was so much fun. We stayed in an all inclusive hotel and my dad and I got tumbled down by the waves. I cut my foot with a sea shell while tumbling in the waves. We also swam in a 150 foot deep cave Cenote Ik Kil with vines hanging from the cave. I was scared when I got in because I thought there would be sharks but it turned out to be fun. We also snorkeled and saw fish in the ocean. We also visited the ruins of Chichen Itza. I learned that in one of the ruins they would have sacrifices after playing an ancient game with a ball, similar to basketball.

During the summers I also love to spend time with my grand - parents and family members here in San Antonio and in Mexico.

My family and I love to travel and I would like visit New Orleans next year. I cannot wait to write more about my travels in the future.
