

The Dance

Written by— Oluchi

Once there was a girl named Lily who was in middle school. She had a crush on a guy named Tom. There was a middle school dance coming up. It was a girl asks boys dance. But, she is very shy and nervous. So, she didn't have the guts to ask him to the dance.

There were popular girls and every boy liked them. They would ask them first, then the rest of the cheer leaders, then tech people, then nerds and lots of people think she's a nerd. She should go with her friends, but then people would laugh at them because they didn't have a date.

So, she went up to Tom and asked him. He said, "I already asked a popular girl and she said yes." I whimpered, "Oh," Crying.

When they both were at the dance, Tom was waiting for the girl he asked out. She was dancing with someone else. So, he lost it and asked Lily if she wanted to dance and she said, "Yes," and they danced happily ever after.