

The fortnite horror story

About one year ago there was a person named, John wick .He just joined a game of fortnite. He went inside a house in salty springs and heard a noise coming from upstairs. So he went to check what it was. But when he went upstairs the noise stopped. He started to freak out so he left the house. he saw this strange figure looking at him in the distance he started to run back to the house and hide in the dark dim basement. Then he said to himself “what was that”?! he peeked out the window to check if it was still there, it was gone. He got himself up and walked to the living room. Something was wrong he felt something was watching him CREEK! He turned to see the bedroom door open something was crawling in the ceiling in the bedroom. He could barely see it but he knew it was about human size it climbed out of the room climbing on the ceiling to the living room. John Wick stood in fear as the long slim creepy creature slowly crawled to him. As it got closer he saw its long gaping mouth and long sharp rows of teeth and its long slimy tung. John wick pulled out a legendary heavy shotgun and started shooting the thing. It fell -off the roof but didn't take no damage he was scared out of his mind. He could see the anger rushing to its brain. It stared at him with a grin on its face and then started to attack it jumped on top of John wicks face. John wick shot the things on his face. Then next thing he no's his best friend racknerock came in the door he shot the thing and it died. John wick said “what are you doing here” racknerock said “I was running from the storm” John wick looked at the map the storm was coming. The two ran out the house. ragnarok said before being sniped” go win it for us”. Then he died there was only John wick and omega John wick had to win it for ragnarok so he started to build a one by one and got his sniper and aimed at the omega and fired. The bullet hit the omega right in the head the omega died. And the last thing John wick said was “ we did it buddy we did it “ ragnarock was spectating and he said “yes we did”.
