

The doorway to Disney

By: Nic C

I closed the Kingdom Keepers book “wow! That must have been so much fun to come up with and write about.” I thought. I looked over to my right, sitting as close as he could to me was my little brother Ollie playing on his Nintendo DS with his eyes glued to the screen, “man, I hate it when he does this.” I thought as I got up to grab my DS. I started to play Disney Magical World 2 and while my avatar was running around, I noticed a new portal. “huh?” I thought to myself then my Mom yelled from her room “Nic it’s time to go to bed”

“Okay Mom!” I yelled back as I slipped the DS into my pocket. That night I put all my blankets over myself “just in case.” I thought, I turned on the DS and got on Disney magical world 2, I found the portal in seconds, when I clicked the A button it gave me two options Disneyland and Disney World, I chose Disney World. Everything suddenly went dark and I knew I wasn’t in my room anymore “Hey who turned out the lights?” I yelled.

Seconds later lights bursting with color came all around me. After all the colorful lights came on, I heard music it was not radio music it was Disney music! That’s when it hit me, I had been magically transported to Disney World. “Wow how could this have happened to me?” I asked, while I ran off to enjoy my time at Disney. During my time at Disney, I ate 10 churros, rode Haunted Mansion at least 20 times, and ate so much ice cream I lost count, and then suddenly it was all over. As I sat in bed my stomach full of churros and ice cream, I decided the best thing to do was show my parents the portal to Disney. The next day I showed Dad, Mom and Ollie the portal. They all were so excited when I said we were all going back to Disney! The portal was about to open, and I asked, “Are you all ready?” “Yes!” Ollie, Mom and Dad said in unison as the portal opened. When arrived at Disney world Ollie headed to the ice cream stand, Mom went to the Winnie the Pooh ride, Dad went to The Pirates of the Caribbean ride and I went to Cinderella's Castle because I had an old friend to go see. okay I quickly it to the castle and thought "Where is he?". Then I heard someone say, "Well hi there pal!".

"Oh my gosh Mickey you scared me!" I said.

"Sorry Nic, oh and you forgot this last time." Mickey said handing me a Mickey Mouse ear hat. "Oh my gosh we've been looking everywhere for this!" I said as I put the hat on my head. "Hey Nic, I have a question?" asked Mickey. "What was the question?" I asked "On a scale of one to ten how much do you love Disney World?" Mickey asked.
"Ten definitely ten." I said "Well Nic what do you want to do?" Mickey asked "Well I was thinking of riding Space Mountain." I said "Well okay pal" Mickey said with a great big grin as we walked to Tomorrowland. When we arrived at Tomorrowland, I noticed that Stitch's Great Escape was back up and running "What! I thought this ride was closed forever!" I said.

"Well, we decided it should come back." Mickey said "Mickey this was my favorite ride! I thought it was shut down for forever!" "Well if you want to ride Space Mountain we can, but if you want to ride this, we can skip Space Mountain." Mickey said "Mickey you read my mind." I said grinning "Okay pal." Mickey said as we both ran into Stitch's Great Escape. Inside the ride I felt something strange in my stomach "Hey Mickey what's going on right now I feel sick." "Nic I forgot to tell you this, but you have a limited time in Disney. After the time is up you and your family will be teleported back to your house." Mickey said "Mickey you could have told me this sooner." I said "Well it was good seeing you pal." Mickey said "You too Mickey." I said as I was teleported back home. When everyone was back in my room, we all were so excited that we could not stop talking. Ollie was the most excited, but while he was talking to me, I didn't look up "Nic what are you looking at?" Ollie asked. When I looked up, I showed Ollie what was in my hand he was so surprised, I was holding a thank you note from Mickey. It stated that we all could go to Disney anytime we want "So when can we go back to Disney?"
Ollie asked. "Maybe tomorrow." I said. "Nic tomorrow is school!" Mom said.

“Oh yeah,” I said as I turned to my DS and pressed the A button “Nic. No!” Mom shouted, but it was too late the portal had already opened, and all of us were going back to Disney again.
