

The Monster under the Bed

By: Shayla

There was a little boy named Will he had moved into his new house with his family. After Will moved around his room he was ready to go to bed his mother which was a monster gave him a glass of water that was monster poison. Will needed to drink three different monster poisons to fully change into a monster. The next day at school Will had to wear a humongous jacket and long pants to cover all the hair he grow over night he almost look like a animal! Before Will went to bed he knew something was wrong.

Later Will was awoken by a rattling noise from under his bed. He ran to his parent's room and told them that there was a monster under his bed! They didn't believe him so they scented him back to his room he was tired after running to his parents room so he started to drink his glass of water and figured that it was monster poison and didn't realized that he gulped it all down! The next night he had made a trap to catch the monster, that night after making the trap he fell asleep! But was awoken by blood curdling screams from the monster he caught Wills little sister comes in Wills room mad because she thought Will was playing a trick on her so she turned on the lights , And killed the monster in the cage and saved Will from turning in to a full monster.
