

THE CAT GANG-WE'VE BEEN FRAMED!!

(CHARACTERS BASED ON REAL CATS)

BY MAYA

Three stray cats were just living their lives: Coconut, Ginger and Luna. Ginger was such a beautiful cat, her soft long silky fur and big green eyes—made her the star of the brave cat gang. Coconut had a sweet shy and playful personality. She was one of the nicest Luna always sneaking around being herself with her pitch-black cat was one of the more serious types. These three cats will face a whole other adventure of everything in we've been framed!!

THE START OF IT ALL

It was just another normal outside day. Luna was hiding out. Ginger was hunting and exploring, Luna was hiding out. Ginger was hunting and exploring, and Coconut was chasing things. It was Spring morning, lots to do for the cats but you see also trouble. If you have noticed dogs come out and play in the Summer and Spring, up to no good. On this very day three stray dogs were making a very cunning plan. They were very jealous that cats were having way more fun than them and they both are stray. You see this is just how dogs are and that's that.

THE PLAN

There's no better way to get someone into trouble than framing something or someone . This was the dog's plan. The cats are always out and about and no one knows what they do but now the dogs are going to change that. The dogs are going to frame the cats by scratching people's house, mess up people's gardens, and knock the fences down. Everyone will think it was the cat's because they could do that and everyone knows those dogs are good. If the dogs do this half of the neighbors will turn against the cats and call animal control which is exactly what the dogs want. This is payback time! (for absolutely nothing).

STEP 1

The next day the cats had just woken up, surprised to hear the sound of dogs barking. They snuck over to the scene. A whole lot of the neighbors were at Clyde's house. The front and back doors of Clyde's house were scratched up! "It must have been those pesky cats" Susan said.

I always knew they were up to something, she exclaimed. The dogs barked in agreement. The cats were in so much shock they ran all the way to the other end of the neighborhood. What was going to happen next?

THE FIGHT

Around 4 in the evening the cat's headed home. They overheard the dogs barking in delight. Luna was the most suspicious about this, so she snuck over to where the dogs were at. On the way, Luna tripped over the stack of dog bones. The dogs were furious! Luna looked up at the dogs in pain who had surrounded her. She hissed at them but that did nothing. The dogs attacked. Coconut and Ginger ran over to Luna grabbing the dogs by their feet. Luna limped away in pain while the others followed. The cat's weren't looking for revenge, they were looking for a plan.

STEP 2

The cats thought they had enough, but the dogs kept going. Again, as soon as they woke up in the morning they heard barking. This time they walked to the crime scene. Luna's leg was still sore so they took it easy. They ended up at Neighbor Jimmy's house and found out the fences were knocked down followed by scratch marks. The cats were speechless. They knew they would get the blame.

"Oh come on!" shouted Jimmy.

"Now look what they did." muttered Susan.

"We know it was you, silly cats!" commented Clyde

"This is your last straw!" bellowed Pete

What were the cat's going to do! On the corner of the yard a young teeny was investigating the fences. She found slobber. Dog slobber.

Something here is not right. She whispered.

The girl walked off with a confused look on her face. Hopefully she would get to the bottom of this.

STEP 3

Again! The next day the cat's woke up to the sound of barking. They tumbled to the scene. In neighbor Madison's garden they found her garden scratched up."

"That's it, I'm calling animal control!" hollered Ted.

Ted took out his phone and called animal control

"This is the end of you!" shouted everyone.

Tears of sadness formed in the cat's eyes, even in Lunas. Once again the teenager was investigating. She told the dogs to go away while they were yapping with happiness. Just then the girl noticed the cats.

"I know it wasnts you cute cats" she whispered.

The cat's mewed.

"You will not be taken away" she said.

The cats edged closer. When they got to her she put 1 collar around each of the cats with their name on them.

"You're mine now" she said.

SURROUNDED

The next day animal controls surrounded the neighborhood. They searched around and all over the place. The cats came out from the corner of someone's garden. As soon as they stepped out, the animal control people trapped them in cages and loaded them into the truck. Just then the same sweet teenagers stepped out.

WHERE'S YOUR PROOF?

"Stop!" The girl said.

"What and who are you?" Grumbled animal control.

"Im Haley and those cat's are mine and they are innocent!" protested Haley.

"How?" everyone asked

"Dogs." She exclaimed

"Pshhhh There nice and we saw scratch marks on everything it's bound to be these silly felines" said Clyde.

"Well have you checked the security cameras around here?" Haley questioned.

She pulled out a small black object and showed them what the dogs did.

CASE CLOSED

Everyone was in awe. The dogs whimpered.

"It was the dogs!" said Susan.

A couple minutes later animal control got the dogs trained and took them to the animal shelter to get adopted. The cat's moved in with Haled and had many adventures. The cat gang has done it again!!
