

The Runaway

A teen girl named Lucy loves collecting zombies, creepy dolls, and clowns and carries them in her bag. She soon finishes her first collection, though her parents are very worried about her and her collection. Lucy has a very tough life as her parents are about to split and she doesn't know who to go with. One day on the news, they mentioned a missing haunted doll with the spirits of the previous owner at a museum, has gone missing. This intrigued Lucy and she continued to listen to it until she heard yelling. It was her cop Mom and FBI Dad arguing again with each other, but this time it was much more fierce and rowdy. Lucy was so distraught after seeing the quarrel, especially since her parents were more enraged than ever, so she decides to run away. But Lucy couldn't bear to leave her collection behind, so while rushing out she grabs her bag while bawling her eyes out. Lucy continued to run until the only thing she saw were the hills that tower over her house. Lucy had decided to take a rest and just stay there until her parents searched for her. But Lucy didn't hear her parents calling for her and by the time it was dawn, they were nowhere to be seen. Lucy woke up to huge lights that were blinding her. She thought it was a UFO as both objects were very similar looking and flew. But she soon realized it was just a helicopter towering over her. She found it very strange and decided to take a look. She quickly runs home, not realizing her parents think she is missing and called the police. After arriving home, her shocked parents come over and hug her tightly until she tells them to stop. They end up having a talk with each other and make-up. In the end, her parents vowed to never fight again, so that Lucy can have a normal, calm life.
