

Genesis S.

Don't Stop Believing

March 7, 2008 a little girl named May Sanchez. She loved art and drawing. Also, math was really a struggle. All the problems were too hard like 267 divided by 3 it was hard plus people made fun of her, call her names, and she finally math was hard. People made fun of May. They gossiped about her they said she hurt people hurt her and said she bullied people. When they actually did those things to her. They made fun of her art work too they called it ugly, May is really hurt. People called May names. They called her ugly and stupid girl. Sometimes girls punched her and kicked her really hard. They even told May to die and don't go to this school anymore. May is really depressed. May is bad at math. May never get's the problems. Finally, she got it May thought she was beautiful in her ow way. Plus, she got good at math by taking tutoring class. The next day no body was being rude to her. May was sad because people made fun of her, called her names and she was bad at math. So always believe in yourself.