

A Dog and Cat Adventure!
By Emma M.

Once there was a cat named Grace and a dog named Spot. The cat and dog were best friends. They lived on a beautiful farm. The farm had lots of land, a stream next to the garden, and an orchard behind the barn. On the other side of the stream was a dark, scary woods where the animals were taught to never go. There were wolves, bears, and wild turkeys in the woods.

One day Grace asked her mother if she could visit Spot. "Yes", said her mother. When she found Spot, his litter mates were playing and nibbling on each other's ears.

“Spot, do you want to go on an adventure?” asked Grace.

“Of course! I’ll go ask my mom!”

“Great”, said Grace.

“My mom said yes!”

“Good let’s go!”

They started running until their feet were barely on the ground. They kept running and jumped over the stream and then the gate. Suddenly they noticed they were outside the farm!

Spot stopped, so did Grace.

“Where are we?” asked Spot.

“I don’t know” said Grace.

Suddenly they heard deep, dark howling in the misty woods! “I smell something weird”, said Spot. “I hear something weird” said Grace. “Wolfs! Run!”

In no time the wolves were chasing them deeper into the dark forest! They ran for a long time until they finally found shelter in a nice, quiet, little cave. It was getting dark and they didn't want any more scary animals to chase after them. They decided to stay in the cave for the night. Spot made a fire and Grace made a bed next to it.

In the morning they hunted for wild turkey. “They can get really mean” said Spot. “Don't worry”, said Grace. “It's just like hunting a butterfly!”

Suddenly Grace pounced! “Grace don't!” Spot yelled. It was too late.

A flock of wild turkeys came running toward them. “Ahh! Let's go”, said Spot. “What did I do?”, asked Grace.

They spun around the trees like lightning trying to get away from the turkeys. Finally, they lost them. Starving and out of breath they sat there stunned.

“What have we done now? We’re deeper into the woods than we were before?” said Spot.

Grace cried, “It’s all my fault”.

“No it’s not. If I hadn't got us lost in the first place none of this would have happened”, Spot replied.

“Then it’s both of our faults” Grace said. “At least we learned to stick with rabbits” Spot said.

They decided to take a walk to look for home. They walked for awhile until they heard someone calling out to them. It was the farmer’s voice! They almost flew through the air! As they jumped over a log they thought about their amazing adventure. Finally, they were home. “I wonder what will happen next”, said Grace.
