Dreams of a disabled kid

Chapter 1

a little about me so first. I was born with two broken legs. So that means that I can't walk; I am disabled. When I, was born my mom wanted to see me but they took me right away to the nic unit .After like a month my family and other visitors were able to see me , but it was pretty fun to get passed along by everyone who can see me, It was really fun to get held by everyone that was there.

Chapter Two

Going home, my parents were so excited because I have been in the hospital with my parents for like forever. It feels like you're in a house and you never can get out. It was horrible to think about but when I got home, I was scared. I was nervous, but all I could think is about is home sweet home, but I felt happy.

Chapter 3

Well I was growing up, and it was very sad to think about ange get through but everything is going out good so far I just wanted to say I feel trapped inside my house my dream is to get out of my house.

Chapter 4

for My dream comes true . So right now I am getting ready because my mom said she has a surprise for me. Finally I really hope it is my dream of coming outside,So I hope that is ,what the surprise is and my mom was finally ready to go and my dream came true. My mom took me to the doctor's office and i got my fake legs and he showed me how to use then and how to put them on.
