

The Old Barn

It was a cold winter night me and my friends were out riding our bikes home until we saw a large structure in the distance. We had to check it out we saw there were pens but no animals. We knew it had to be a barn. One of my friends said "That the barn has been abandoned for many years." Since i just moved into the area i didn't know much about old Kentucky. There was an upstairs so I was the first to go up because my friends were to scared. Then in a flash i saw a black figure evaporate into thin air. I was so startled I fell off and hit my head onto a stable and was knocked out cold. The next morning I woke up in a different place not in my bedroom. I saw my friend sitting next to me so I panic to ask him "where am I?" He said "We were at the hospital." So i calmed down and ask him "how long was i out for?" He said for 8 hours. When i got out of the hospital me and my friends went back to the barn. My friend Zack was still scared to go even though it was day. I was the first one to go up again i didn't see any sign of what i saw last night so i searched around to see and there it was behind me.

If you want a part two
Then please ask me.
From: Mark L.