How I Found Love

So Im Cookie and this is how I found love. So I love to read and write and I never really go out only time I do is when I go to the store. This time was better so I went to the store and got some stuff and I could get more jam. Cause Im short so a man came a got the jam and he look down and I said thank you so I look at him he said Im welcome and he was looking at me I look at him he was so cute he said can I get your number I sayed sure and gave him my number he called 3 day later and I was happy I stop reading my love book. He ask me out I said sure he said okay I'll be there at 7:00 so I put on some nice a went out went him we had a good time so I went home and he said do you wanna date and I sayed sure and we got marry and had 2 kids boy and girl.
