

Pecan Tree: Rob Pinto “AKA” Mr. Power by Kade G.

One day a new baby was born, and his name was Rob Pinto. As a kid, he would climb his favorite pecan tree and sit on its day dreaming about growing up and moving away to the big city. But for now, he was stuck having to live in a small town called Pecan, Texas. Rob's dad had the biggest farm because he was the mayor and had the biggest piece of land. Mr. Pinto told his son that he wanted him to be a pecan farmer just like him. When Rob got in high school a big tragedy happened. An asteroid hit his special pecan tree. His dad was going to chop down the dying tree, but before he had a chance to do it, Rob climbed it just one more time. When he reached his favorite spot, he saw one last pecan and he ate it for old time sake. Rob would struggled with his grades before because it was hard to concentrate, but one day he was studying, and he closed his eyes and said, “I am great. I am going to pass this test.” When her opened his eyes, everything around him was floating. Rob would find out he had powers. Rob was shocked and excited at the same time. As soon as he stood up, everything dropped in its place. This was just the beginning. Rob didn't play sports or have many friends, but that soon changed when it was discovered he had super speed and won the school's track meet. Rob found out he had super strength and was stronger than any football player. Rob could even fly. He found this out after falling from a tall pecan tree. Rob knows eating that pecan from his tree that was hit by the asteroid gave him these powers and that is how Mr. Power was created to do good.
