

Art Girl by Mofie O.

Once upon a time in the city of Artopia there was a super hero named Art Girl with her puppy sidekick, Starlight. They are the protectors of the city, but when there are not superheroes, they are just Mofe and Sunny. One day when Mofe and Sunny were playing outside, suddenly, Sunny's super hearing came in, "Bark, Bark", said Sunny.

"What's that girl? Trouble at the airport"? Mofe asked.

"Ruff!", Sunny replied,

"But you know what that means", Mofe said with excitement. Sunny turned and turned around like a cute little puppy chasing its tail. Sunny spun faster and faster and faster until she stopped. There was no more Sunny, there was only Starlight!

"That's exactly what I mean!", Mofe said while taking out her magical mini notebook that her grandma gave to her before she died. Mofe drew Art Girl's costume on a page in her notebook, and there was no more Mofe there was only Art Girl.

They used their super blast to get to the airport quickly. Once they got there, Art Girl saw nothing, but Starlight sensed something. As they were looking for any signs of danger, they heard a scream in the distance. They flew towards it and once they got there, they saw a gigantic robot reaching the airport. They tried to stop the robot, but instead the robot picked up a car with a family inside of it. Just when the robot was about to throw the car to the ground, Starlight used her super bark to irritate the robot. The robot dropped the car, but Art Girl used her super strength to catch the car just in time and put it down. Art Girl took out a magical mini notebook and drew a giant screwdriver almost as big as the robot. She told the screwdriver to unscrew the robot bolt by bolt, part by part. The screwdriver unscrewed the robot, and everyone cheered.