

The Forest Full of Magic

By Anthony J.

A long time ago there was a magical forest full of magical creatures that lived in harmony. There were Dragons, Phoenixes, Unicorns, Hippogriffs, Fairies, Goblins, and Mermaids from a magical river full of crystals. Ten years later, a shop appeared on shore. All the creatures started to run away and fly away from the ships because the ships were hunter ships, so they were trying to capture all the creatures. So when the hunters came to land they had come with bows, nets, and cages. First they tried to capture the Goblins and caught them. Then they tried to capture the Mermaids, but they were hidden. But they captured all of the other creatures. So the hunters took them to the ship. But the only ones left were the Mermaids, so they swam all the way to sea so they could save the creatures. First they saved the Dragons, the Fairies, then the rest of the creatures, and then they all swam and flew back to their magical forest and after that day all the creatures worshiped the Mermaids.
