

By: Grace C.

Wake Up

I'm running as fast as I can. I'm telling myself to wake up. But I can't.

Chapter one:

I am running as fast as I can to the second period. When I heard an alarm going off it was the police department, and they were on city announcement saying a killer was on the loose. I ran as fast as I could to my classroom.

Then they put the whole school on lock down. "Is everyone here?!?" My teacher, Mrs. William, was screaming saying stay quiet and don't scream. Finally, the day was over and I can finally go home and get some rest.

It's been days since I've heard anything about the killer on the loose and he hasn't been in town for days.

I went to school late today. I was walking that day, so when I went to the school, I found a shadow guy just lurking behind the trees. He was creepy and mysterious. I went to go tell my principal she put a lockdown for the whole day at the end of the day the killer was gone he knew something was wrong. From that day on I started asking if my mom can drive me to school since I felt unsafe walking and I was only 15 at the time so I didn't have my driver's license yet. My mom asked what's going on why do you want me to drive you to school every day? I said, no reason. The next day I said mom I walk to school today if it's OK with you so I did. That day I saw the shadowy figure again I didn't know why it was still there. I thought we scared it off, so I went back to the principal, but she didn't believe me this time. The next day there was a shooting near school. She put the full school in lockdown. It was a nightmare.

Chapter two:

When I went back to school the next day after the shooting, I heard that one of my friends seriously hurt himself so he went to the hospital. The day after that, I went to check on him. He said he had very low blood pressure. Which was not good. I told my mom all that happened that day. She got so scared. She said she wanted to move. I didn't tell her what had gone the day before. Every other day, I have been scared to go to school because of all the things I would've just liked if they caught the killer already. It is driving me insane. I just want to wake up so just wake up! But I can't. I found more clues to who may be the killer. After he was chased, I found that he was not only the killer, he was a kidnapper as well. So I ran down to the police station and told them what they found out but they didn't believe me so I gave them proof, then they believed me. Chapter three: As soon as I told the police, they closed down the school for two days. As I sat down in my house, I heard the doorbell ring. I looked out the window. I couldn't see anyone. Should I open the door? My heart was beating fast as I reached for the doorknob. As I turned it open, I sighed in relief. It was only my three friends. Oscar, Zoe, and Oliver. My dad was out of town and my mom was at work. I let them in. "Since everyone is going out of town because of the killer, we were gonna go explore the empty town. Then we thought you should come with us. Then the whole group will be there." Zoe said. "So you gonna come with?" I looked at them, shocked they were taking the risk of losing their lives to exploring an empty town. "Unless you're a chicken. BAWK BAWK!!" Oliver added to Zoe's sentence. I looked at Oscar. He understood what my face was saying. He shook his head yes. I grabbed my wallet and phone and said " Sure. I'll come." I went to the place the killer was last seen and we found him. My friend got his phone and dialed 911. A few minutes later the cops arrived and arrested the killer. We were safe and given the National Bravery award.

The End