

The Smiths: A Prank Gone Wrong

By: Mia D.

Robert Smith and Will Smith are twin brothers in high school at the age of 16 and are currently beefing with each other. One night at dinner, Robert was taking his plate to the sink while Will was doing the same thing. But Robert accidentally runs into Will and then spills all the food on Will. Will was really mad at him. Will said, “Why would you do that?” Will was so mad that he poured a glass of milk all over Robert, as a comeback for what Robert accidentally did. They both stomp up the stairs and go back to their rooms.

The next morning, Will and Robert are getting ready for school. Robert takes their little sister, Amanda, to school because her school is close to his. Will was still angry at Robert from what happened the night before. Will wakes up from a horrible nightmare. The nightmare was about his mom choosing Robert over him. So, Will decides to play a prank on Robert.

His family thinks that Will is going his regular route to school but his plan is to follow Robert. As he's thinking about what to do, he comes up with a prank to scare Robert. His prank is to dress up like a different person and follow Robert.

Robert is loading Amanda in the car and Will waits till they leave so he can start following them. Will starts to follow them, and over time, Robert notices that someone is following him but doesn't know that it is Will. Eventually, Robert tries to lose the car that's following them but Will still keeps up.

Robert starts to get overwhelmed and distracted but instead of pressing the break, he accidentally presses the gas pedal.... Robert accidentally crashed. Will is surprised and gets out of the car. He immediately picks up his phone and calls an ambulance and then his parents.

Soon Amanda and Robert are rushed to the hospital. Once they got to the hospital the doctors informed them about some shocking news. The doctors said that Robert unfortunately broke his neck and would have to spend the rest of his life in a wheelchair, while Amanda had some broken bones. His parents were shocked and wondered how something like this had happened. Robert tells them that there was a car following him. The parents demand an investigation, and the police find Robert's dash cam to see who was following him. The parents find the car and the license plate number and to their surprise they find out it was Will. Will tries to play it off as "a prank gone wrong."

The parents are so mad, that they decide that it's best to send him off to military school for about a year and a half.

Time goes by, and after about a year and a half, Will comes home. Once he walks through the door the family goes silent. Nobody has anything to say to him after what happened. Will says, "I'm really sorry. I know that what I did was wrong, but I promise that I never meant for it to go that far. I now realize that you're my brother and I should never do anything to hurt you. I really hope that you can forgive me."

Everybody is shocked. They don't know what to say. Will suddenly goes up to Robert and gives him a big hug. Robert says to Will, "Of course I forgive you!" Then the whole family is happy again, and Will finally knows that what he did was wrong.

The End