

Sushi Planet

Jacob L.

There was a sushi restaurant and the sushi were going around and around. There were very popular sushi and some were not. The sushi that we're not popular we're sad and bored. They had an idea, "What if we escape this sushi restaurant?" Said the salmon sushi. "no we have no place to live outside." Said the squid sushi. Egg sushi was a smart sushi. "What if we go to space?" the egg sushi said. Everyone was excited but they didn't know how.

"I have an idea." So all the sushi followed egg to the space station. All the sushi were wondering how this would work. There was a rocket about to launch. They quickly entered the rocket and it was time for blast off. "321 Blastoff!" All the sushi, we're proud. "Hurray!" They shouted. They blasted into space. The rocket finally landed on a planet. A few days later, the astronauts were leaving. The sushi were sad. They were also happy because they can live without the annoying astronauts. They wanted to make their own. Planet, So they had an idea. They said, "This is the sushi planet."

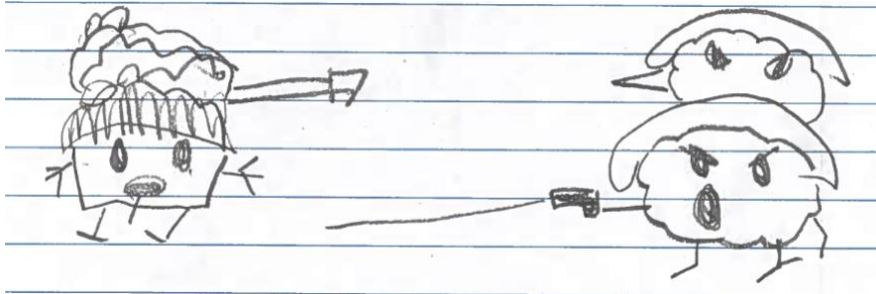

Meanwhile, in the restaurant, the news was spread to every sushi. So, the sushi were starting to go to space. They went to Sushi Planet.

The Sushi Planet grew bigger and bigger. It became the biggest planet in our galaxy! Almost all the sushi in the restaurant with to that planet. A long time has passed. The sushi were searching for a new planet to live. They found an odd planet. It was shaped like a ramen. They called it The Ramen Planet.

The sushi though they were bad guys. They started a war. The ramen were confused. They didn't want to fight. They had a brave leader. He said, "Just fight".

Years of fighting and they decided to stop the war and become friends. All the sushi and ramen became friends. They visited each others's planet and stuff. They decided to make a new planet but they didn't know what to call it. Egg sushi was smart sushi, like I said earlier. He had an idea. He decided to name it The Japan Planet because sushi and ramen are both from Japan. They lived happily together on that planet.
