It was Halloween night 3 of my friends came over we decide to play wuigi board. We said is anybody there it moved and said yes we all laughed. We were laughing no questions were asked and the board spelled IM IN YOUR HOUSE we were laughing but then a loud bang happened up stairs we were home alone and didn't have any pets. Suddenly the door rang we looked at each other I got up and opened it Oof it was just a track or treat. We all went upstairs to check we went in my parents room we all heard a little girls voice. 2 of my friends runned downstairs while me and 1 of my friends went in my parents room opened the door slowly I saw a figure in the corner of the room a tall person they said I told you with a hige smile it started running to the door I closed it locked. Called police they never him or she I always have dreams, he is in Nacogdoches trying to find other people that have a wuigi board. Legend says he is there move your curtaines HE HE. (Based on a true story.)
