Title: The Grasshopper and the Mean Boy

There once was a generous grasshopper called Sofia and a mean boy called Alexander. Alexander was on the beach. He was sitting in a chair. Sofia jumped on the feet of Alexander. "Ewww a grasshopper! I'm going to kill him," said Alexander. "No please don't kill me! I would do something for you!" said Sofia. "Haha! A grasshopper would do something for me? Haha but fine. I am going to let you go," said Alexander. Ryan, another mean boy who was scared of grasshoppers was annoying Alexander and he decided to keep Alexander's towel because it was so cute so he stole the towel. "Ohh noo! My towel!" said Alexander. Sofia noticed Ryan stole his towel so Sofia decided to help. She jumped on his feet. "Ahhh a grasshopper!!! "Ryan screamed as he left the towel on the sand and ran to his mom. "Wow. I never knew that a grasshopper can do that. Thank you! Could you please forgive me?" Alexander said. "Sure but don't worry about the mean things you said. That happens to me all the time but sure I can forgive you," said Sofia and Alexander changed to be a good boy.
