Once upon a time there was a girl who loved the sun and she always said, "I wish the sun was always out." Then one day the sky went dark. It was as if it was night forever. As you can imagine the girl didn't like this. Instead of picking flowers and rolling in the grass she spent all day in her room, however she would come out every now and then for water and food or to go to the bathroom, but she was never again the girl who was joyful. Chirp Chirp Chirp... it was the first time they had heard the birds in a long time so then the girl ran outside and there it was the SUN in all its glory shining down on her smooth pale face. She then started rolling in the new nice grass thinking how beautiful it was. It was so glorious that she started singing and dancing. Then it was time for the sun to set but she was no longer upset.
