

Mika's Great Adventure

This great story begins with Mika, she is a little girl who comes from Michigan and moved to a small town in Oregon.

Mika's biggest dream was to have a puppy, since she was 8 her parents did not think she could take care of one, she knew that it was a dream that could never be fulfilled.

Mika imagined what her new house could be like. She imagined a perfectly clean house, the whole house white and her room large and pink, so much that the little girl had fallen asleep.

She suddenly hears the voice of her mother who was waking her up from her dream. Her mom told her that they had already arrived, she ran away from the car, and saw her house and it was not what was expected. The walls were of another color, they were yellow and the same inside, her room was of another color, light blue, the only thing she liked was that her closet and her room were the biggest.

While her parents were unpacking Mika went for a walk in a small park that was close to her house. There she saw that something was moving between the bushes, she came to see what it was and when she saw it she realized that it was a puppy. The little dog was scared and began to cry and was shivering with cold, Mika grabbed him and wrapped him in a jacket she had and hid him in her garden.

Mika fed him, gave him water and sheltered him until he was no longer cold, and then realized that he was a boy.

Mika used to secretly put food and water every day so the dog could eat and drink, the days went by and they turned into a month, she decided to call him Hachi.

She then decided to tell her parents, she told her parents that she had found a puppy and that she had named it Hachi. Mika told them that she could take care of the little animal, her parents told her they would think about it, so they went into a room and discussed it. After a few minutes her parents came out and Mika was nervous. Mika's parents told her that she could not keep him because they had recently moved, but the truth was her parents did not believe her capable of caring for an animal.

After three nights, Mika waited for everyone to fall asleep so she could get out of her room window where the little dog came every day for food and water, she saw him, grabbed him and put him in to her house trying not to make noise. She went into her room carefully trying for the dog not to bark, after that Mika put him in the closet with some sheets and pillows put more food and water and left it in there until de next day.

Mika hid the puppy in her room for a week, then she went to get him a toy but on the way she remember that she had not locked the door of her room and ran back to her house with fear that her parents would ha e noticed that she hid Hachi. Her father had not arrived at her house, but her mother was there. She went into the house and ran into her room and her mother had Hachi in the hands. Her mother was very annoyed and punished her and told her to return the dog
