

Katie & Joe

Once upon a time there lived a woman named Katie. She had a huge pet panda named Joe.

One day Katie left for work, but accidentally left the door wide open. As a result, Joe decided to go out the door. When Katie came back, she said, "Joe where are you?" Katie then realized that Joe was gone.

First, she called the police, but they said, "We don't find animals, sorry." Next, she called the fire department, but they said, "We don't look for animals." Then she went to go ask the neighbors if they had seen a large panda, but they all said "No." Katie then sat down and really thought about what she could do. After a while an idea popped into her head "ding!" She decided to get some bamboo and call for him. "Joe! Joe! Joe!" she said. Soon later Joe smelled the bamboo and came running back to Katie.

After that Katie made sure the door was closed and locked.
