

By: A'Maj M.

A little boy was going to school. After school he went back home and on the way back he found a map. The next day his friends were happy to see him. They read together and they had to do a mission. As soon as they got there the treasure was so big. They opened it. There was so much money.