Written By Moise And Cenyah

One day there lived two kids named Jayana and Jordan they were twins they were raised by a poor family in Memphis they always dreamed about going to LSU. Jayana wanted to play basketball in LSU and Jordan wanted to play football in LSU even though they would probably not see each other that much they will still work hard. They would always be good in school because they wanted to be in LSU. They got good grades and even though people didn't think they would make it there they would work even harder. One day Jayana and Jordan asked their parents if they could play on a team usually their parents would say no but they said yes. The next day Jayana got ready for practice she felt butterflies in her stomach but she shook it off and walked to the court.

"Hey I'm Coach Bloom."

"Hi" said Jayana shyly.

"You ready to work?" said Coach.

"YES!" said Jayana loudly.

"Well give me 3 laps." said Coach Bloom

"Ok" said Jayana. After practice, Jayana called her brother, Jordan. He said that his practice was ok. He told her that he did pushups, routs, and lifting light weights and one day they walked to the mail and they both got a letter that said come play for LSU. They were so happy. The next day they went to the airport to go to Louisiana. It was 1 hour and 22 minuites on the flight they were in first class. LSU paid for them. They were thankful they knew they would make it. And soon as they got to LSU they got their the principal gave them a tour and showed them their lockers. Jordan called their mom and said "I wish you could be here." "I think I can make that happen" said the principal . They were so thankful. The next month it was Jayana's first game. Their mom was there and suddenly their dad came.

He said "I'm so proud of ya'll" They looked at him funny.

"Where were you when I didn't know how to shoot a basketball?" said Jayana.

Jordan said, "Where were you when I didn't know how to catch and throw a football? Now you want to come to us now that we are rich and famous. You want to be in our life? Sorry, have a good life!" said Jayana and Jordan. Then, they won their first championship for LSU and after college Jordan went to the NFL draft and got selected 1st pick in the NFL draft by the Jets. And Jayana got selected in 2nd pick in the WNBA draft by Arizona.
