

By Madison B.

Once upon a time there was a cheetah named Lola. She wanted to go to Alaska and see the snow but she didn't know how to go. So, first she went there with what she normally wears, a t-shirt and shorts. Then she figured out that it was way way too cold for her. She asked her friend Lona, the bird, to make her a time machine and she did! Lona warned her that the time machine had a few glitches and wasn't ready to test, but Luna did not listen. She walked in and Lona followed close behind. Once Luna and Lona got to Alaska they saw they were in ancient times. Then they heard a loud thumping...thump, thump, thump! It was a woolly mammoth!

CLANK! The door closes and they are surrounded by woolly mammoths. The mammoths didn't charge though, instead they just stared with their mouths open. Luna and Lona slowly moved away. Lona remembered there was a pathway leading into the normal world, but it would only work once. Luna said "let's just find that door!", but then a big snowstorm hit.

In the middle of the snowstorm, they saw a glowing light in the distance. They moved closer and found it! The door! Luna remembered Lona told her it can only be used once but she did not know if they could enter the door at the same time. Worried one of them would be left behind forever if they couldn't walk through the door together.

They risked it, and decided to walk through together! They did it! Luna and Lona had made it back without getting stuck. They looked around to see they were back in Africa again.