~ Sprinkles Turns Detective ~

It was the fourth quarter with only one minute left, coach Cupcake yelled “ Time out” Every one ran up to the small canopy, everyone was tiered, sitting down to drink some water, and they listened as coach Cupcake said“ We’re tied, 4 to 4, who ever gets the next point, wins”. All of the cats on the team were exhausted, and the next second they were on the field. Sprinkles stepped up to take the kick off. The referee blew into the whistle. Sprinkles kicked the ball straight into the goal. The Cheese Burgers won. and everyone on the team ran up to Sprinkles and cheered. On the bus ride to the hotel everyone took off their cleats, and put on their comfortable slippers. They also stopped by Cat Donalds for some food. When they arrived at the hotel they got into the showers, got their pajamas on, brushed their teeth and fur, and got into bed.

The next morning everyone got ready for the next soccer game, and then Sprinkles screamed and said “ All of our equipment is missing!”. All of the other cats thought it was just a prank until they also saw that the equipment was missing. All they had was their uniforms , their socks, and their cleats, nothing else. When it was time to leave for the game, the players were scared. Cleot thought that they would lose because they didn't have the equipment to stretch, meanwhile Lilly was more worried about her makeup missing. They got to the field, the other team was called The Brockilys. Obviously the team was green and green can sometimes be a lucky color but luckily the Cheese Burgers were going to win because the Brockilys were like the worst team in the league, and because of that the Cheese Burgers won yada,yada, yada.

The next morning the team found out that the games were canceled because of the weather making the fields washed out. Sprinkles decided to go to Walmart and Target to get supplies that a detective would use, and you might be thinking “Why is Sprinkles buying stuff that a detective would use?” Well, let me answer that question for you, because she wants to find their soccer equipment!

After she got all of the supplies, she went to the soccer fields even though it was disgusting. She didn't find anything, but she didn't give up her hopes. So she went to the hotel and she didn't find anything either.

Eventually she decided to quit, well at least for the day. But instead of going to sleep she decided to make a list of suspects. The next morning Sprinkles started investigating again but this time she worked on suspects, here's her list " Suspect number 1: Katy from team cupcakes. Suspect number 2: coach Cupcake. Suspect number 3 : her sister Isabella." Suddenly she saw her best friend Cleot dragging a pretty heavy bag. What is in there? Sprinkles took out her magnifying glass and looked around. She found a piece of a ripped soccer ball. She kept on looking for more evidence. She saw more pieces of ripped soccer ball, but she didn't find anything else so she took a lunch break at Chipotle. Once she was done she started investigating again. This time she found glass! She didn't know what to do so she got some gloves on, and picked up every single piece of glass she could find. The next day it was game day they started to stretch even without their equipment worried. This time the team was the Unicorns and Sprinkles knew that there was a 50-50 chance they could win and they could lose. They stepped on the field and played the game and the reason why they played as hard as they could is because they were playing the hardest team they had ever played in their lives. After a very tiring game the Cheeseburgers won. Sprinkles didn't investigate that day, but the next day she went to the Cupcakes hotel room. She looked under the beds. That's when she found a bag under Katy's bed she looked in the bag that's when she found all of their soccer equipment! She couldn't be more happy she quickly ran to the door. That's when she heard Katy's voice. She ran under one of the players' beds.

The players on the team walked in the room screaming and fighting over what they should eat. Katy yelled " People since I am the team captain I think I should choose what we eat!" Everyone zipped their mouths shut. Katy quietly said " I think we should get a pizza from Pizzahut." Everyone agreed with her. That was Sprinkles' cue to leave. She went to her room. Everyone was watching a movie. It was really scary, at least that is what Cleot thought. Sprinkles lifted the bag up high and everyone screamed with joy. Then Sprinkles said " To celebrate we should go to Dominos" everyone agreed with her unlike the Cupcakes. Once they got back something terrible happened, they lost their team mascot. They started putting up posters with a bird with a cheeseburger costume.

His name is Cheese The Bird. The next day someone named Joe brought Cheese The Bird back but he didn't look like your average cat he had a black robe and hoodie over his head and all you could see was whiskers. A week later and the Cheeseburgers were still in the nationals they had to win one more game and then they'd win the National Soccer Cup but all of the teams were rutting for the Ponies while the fans for the Cheeseburgers were either family, friends, or just normal cat fans. "The Ponies are tough so we have to be tough too." coach Cupcake said. The cats were worried but with a little bit of patience and some hard work the Cheese burgers won and took home the National Soccer Cup.
