

The Thanksgiving Share By:Chika

Ike There was once a girl named Lucy, who hated thanksgiving the reason why she hated Thanksgiving was because, she never got to have her friends who would come over to her house. She would always go on about how boring Thanksgiving is, but this is going to be different. This year she is going on a trip to Chicago to meet her cousins and aunties. She quoted "We get to spend the whole thanksgiving with our family hoorah!", she said sarcastically. On the way to Chicago Lucy could not stop thinking about the reaction she would receive from her cousins. In the middle of the trip they stopped to get some delious food after they ate, they continued they're journey. When they got there Lucy awoke and looked outside she saw her cousins waiting on the front porch, stoned faced looking at her. When she got out the car she looked confused, then the cousins ran toward her and squeezed her as a lemon, Lucy groaned. As the uncle carried the luggage they all walked into the house jaw opened wide and looked surprised. When it was 5:00 in the afternoon Lucy's aunt shouted "dinner"! Lucy got startled, they all gathered together for prayers when they sat around the table and shared what they liked most about the vacation it was Lucy's turn . she explained to them why it was the worst thanksgiving ever the reason she said that is because she never got to do what she wants and because it was boring. After dinner everyone was at the tv and Lucy just stomped in her room disappointed and slammed the door shut. The next day Lucy sat at the front porch and looked puzzled, when her dad saw her he sat next to her then Lucy asked, " why did we come here in the first place"? He whispered, "because we wanted some family time with your aunts and cousins" then Lucy exclaimed, "Ooh". Then they both hugged each other, then Lucy smiled and chuckled . When she saw her cousins playing in the snow she screamed " THIS IS THE BEST THANKSGIVING YET"!