

Jack in the box

By Breanna H.

One day a family was moving to an abandoned house. This story is about a girl named Sara. She was a very special little girl until this day. She was unpacking her clothes when she heard something from the attic. She went down the hall she looked up to where the attic was. She pulled the string a ladder came down. She climbed the ladder up to the attic. There were boxes stacked up. She looked around to see what made the sound. She saw a box tipped over. She walked over to the box. She lifted the box and when she lifted the box she found a blue jack in the box. She put the box to her side and put the jack in the box in her lap. She spun the handle three times "Ding Ding Ding pop!" the clown came out of the box she did a little giggle "He." She put the clown back in its position and she closed the lid. She put it on one of the stacks. She turned off the lights behind her she heard something behind her "Ding Ding Ding pop" then she heard a laugh "He He Hee." She ran down the ladder and closed the attic door.

It was time for bed before she could get onto her bed she heard pots fall. Sara got her flash light from the closet. She walked down stairs into the kitchen. When Sam walked closer to the kitchen she saw the jack in the box. She yelled "WHAT DO YOU WANT!" Sara got closer the jack in the box started playing "Ding Ding Ding pop!" But nothing was in the jack in the box "what Sara felt a hand on her shoulder. Sara ran out of her house and into her car the light started calming down but she still couldn't stay in the house one more night. She sold her house to a family that was moving into the town and no one knows what happened to them.
