It's good to be back!

Under a trapdoor in an abandoned house, he was chained to the wall. "I call him Fang," Ross said. He lit a candle and pointed it toward Fang. I always thought goose flesh was just an expression, but my skin was twitching me like CRAZY. "This is creepy. What is he doing down here?" I said. "Maybe he's dangerous," Ross said. I felt bad for him, all stuck here in the darkness. It was like he read my mind as he said, "Some of us are damaged by the sun." "You know what? We should bring the sun down here, Adam!" Ross said. "How?" I said. "Mirrors," Ross said. "NO!" Fang shouted. "Nothing personal," Ross said. We went and brought them to the abandoned house down the in attic and under the trapdoor while recording because we had plans to put it on YouTube. We set them perfectly while blocking the last mirror to get the big hit on Fang. "We will get MILLIONS of likes and views. Let's do it!" Ross said. He now showed the last mirror as I was recording ALL OF IT. Fang looked like a million volts of electricity were shocking him. I was waiting for smoke to start coming but I noticed change in Fang. Not bad but I noticed another change- he looked YOUNGER. "MOVE THE MIRROR, ROSS! HE'S GETTING YOUNGER!" I exclaimed. Ross threw the mirror on the ground and it shattered. Fang broke out of the
