

Dominic N.

Caitlyn the Sheriff of Piltover

I am Caitlyn Tran. I was born in Piltover, where there is a lot of valuable resources and money, because of this Piltover had a high crime rate. The city is controlled by a group of bad guys called Naxos, and everyone feared them. My father was a wealthy statesman and my mother was a wonderful hextech researcher. I found my natural talent of investigation at the age fourteen. One day my father came home, he was mugged and assaulted, coming home bleeding. That night I sneaked out of my house with my father's rifle to track down the muggers. I brought all of his stuff back and turn the muggers into the city jail. Since then, my parents were continuously trying to get me out of this dangerous hobby, but I am persistent to this adventurous hobby of mine. The hobby later became my source of living.

Twenty years later, I now live my husband Jayce Tran and daughter Lux Tran. We live in Monalen, a small city near Piltover. My husband is the chief of the FBI and I am a sheriff. We work together to get crime rates down in Monalen and Piltover. Lux is fourteen years old; although she is too young for duty she just stages along for the adventure. One day the Captain me and told me and told me I had to travel across the state to a city called Demacia to track down a highly trained robber named Graves, the evil leader of Naxos. Graves is known for his rough and mean acts.

Days upon arriving to Demacia I finally met up with Graves. He was all that I imagined him to be. From afar, I can see that he is tall, dark eyes, dark hairy, and has a rugged build. He looked like the leader everyone feared. As I got closer, I realized he resemble Jayce a little. "STOP RIGHT THERE MISTER" I yelled at the top of my lungs, and he turned around and surrendered in a spit second. So I brought him the Demacia jail. Moments late Lux called me and said "MOM,DAD got DADNAPPED", than the phone got disconnected. I hurried home to discover that Lux was gone. This doesn't make sense to me. I looked all around the house and nothing was missing. I found a strange note in the mail instructing me to meet at a local shop. When I arrived, a gentleman named Roxie greeted me and told me that Graves was expecting me. I said "how can this be, I just put him in the Demacia jail". Roxie said that the man I put in jail is not Graves. As I walked into the room next by, I open the door slightly and it was pitch dark. When the lights turned on I saw...Jayce standing there...

The End

Based on League of Legends