

Dear Ducky,

When I first met you I knew I would like you. Your face seemed so welcoming. I saw your smile and it made me feel warm and fuzzy inside. I didn't know who you were then but I'm so happy I met you. You probably will never read this, but if you do I want you to know that you have made me want to be a better person. I'm smiling and laughing when I'm around you. To be completely honest I'm a little jealous of how you walked into our lives and just automatically stole a lot of people's hearts. I have had my eye on you for a while and I really wanted to meet you. I learned your name fairly quickly and I sort of watched from the shadows. I got really excited when you would notice me or smile in my direction. I overheard you saying one day that you were ugly, I sat there listening but I couldn't help shaking my head and thinking you are so wrong. Even though you may think you are ugly I think you are beautiful. I remember when you came up to me one time and said that I did good during one of my performances. I couldn't help but blush, and I remember that day like it was yesterday. You know your funny in that way, the way were you act like someone's you best friend one day and then the next you're a total stranger. I want to be your best friend everyday, I want to be part of your life. If you're anything like myself you act different around different people, you must be really be confused about me. On the other hand I have already made my decision about you, I have to be my best around you. I want to impress you.

If I'm going to impress you, you have to know who I am. For starters I have been in band for a super long time. Music is a huge part of my life, I have so many relatives that have played instruments music is in my blood. The next thing you need to know is that I'm a total nerd. I love Star Wars, and I look up fun facts as something fun to do. I have never had a C or lower, I'm not even satisfied with B's. Even if I get 100's I do extra credit and I've always been the teacher's pet. I basically have my whole life planned out. Finish college, move to Hollywood, become a production music writer, make a decent living, start a family, live happily ever after. Like I stated I love music and I want to have a career making it, of course there will be other events along the way but these are the major events.

Now that you know a few things about me really want to know more about you. I haven't fully figured you out yet but I'm hoping in the time to come I will be able to. Now, I know, you may never see, read or understand this. But, there is one thing I left out of my plan, you.. When I see my future I see you in it.

With love,

Daisy

P.S. I love you
