Ali's Mother

Ali is 12 years old. Her mother is very sick. Ali starts to come to the hospital every day to visit her mother and entertain her. One day, Ali hears that her mom is not getting better. She's getting worse, so the next day Ali's grandma tells her that she is not homeschooled because she does not have any money to pay for Ali's school anymore. So, Ali goes to the hospital and says, "hi" to her mother. She sees that her mother is getting her medicine and feeling better.

Getting Better

Ali does not seem to worry because she knows that her mom will get better because she is taking her medicine and having good sleep. She goes home finally! She can sleep in peace without worrying about her mother. The next day the doctor tells her that her mother is going to leave the hospital. Ali is so happy when she hears that finally she can go for bike rides and walks with her mom again.

Home

Ali is waiting in the waiting room. She has a whole list of what her mom is going to do. Her grandma tells her wait until she settles in, but she wants to spend time with her mom now. The doctor and Ali's mom came out. Ali hugs her mom and tells her what they are going to do today. But her grandma looks at her. She seems really mad at Ali. Later that day, Ali and her mom go for a walk just like they used to.
